Subject: Unique Gifts with a creative twist by survivor of brain aneurism.

Need an incredible guest with innovative gift ideas and an inspiring back-story?

Nadine Levin, Author of "The 21st Century Cowboy: A Photographic Look at Cowboys over the Last Hundred Years", and a professional photographer, uses her western imagery to produce home accessories that appeal to a large audience.

Nadine can discuss:

Interesting Gift Ideas appealing to both men and women that won't break the bank: She produces both personalized and artisan-made items such as lamps, ceramic tiles, boxes, glass trivets and canvas shopping bags. Some of her gift items are listed on: <http://thewesternhome.com>

Overcoming a brain aneurism to go on to succeed:

The discovery of a brain aneurysm and two subsequent brain surgeries in 2003 was a critical time in Nadine's life and career. It caused her to walk away with a new outlook on life. Nadine now shares her new BOLD, perspective with the world, through her art.

Role model giving hope and inspiration to patients through her art work:

Nadine was commissioned to provide the art work for "The Outlook at Westchester", a New York-Presbyterian Hospital inpatient facility dedicated to the treatment of eating disorders. This was a unique AND INSPIRING project THAT WAS VERY EMPOWERING FOR THE PARTICIPANTS.

Nadine Levin is based in metro area of Washington, DC. She can do interviews by phone or near her home. Editorial segments of her work have appeared on MSNBC's Rachel Maddow (Air America Show). Her work has been covered by Outdoor Canada, Extreme Equine, Denver Daily News, Baltimore Sun, Capitol File Magazine, Santa Monica Sun, Beverly Hills 90210, Pacific Palisades, The Tribune, Home Improvement Magazine, Malibu Beach, and other media outlets.

She does have availability to drive/fly to New York with a day's notice, or her studio space is an interesting backdrop for a live or satellite interview. She will entertain all requests so if you have interest, please let us know.

Warmly,
